Note from our Founder – Attilio Poli, Managing Director APAQ Group

The start-up of our team commenced with the dream of becoming an eminent name in the environmental industry whilst helping our communities.

APAQ Group has an incredible assortment of dedicated and trustworthy people, who have the zeal of working hard as a team. My sincere thanks go to my loyal and incredible team and we are proud to not have had, even one resignation. I can only take that as an indication of being on the right path. I hope that all our passion only grows and the work at APAQ continues to be an exciting, continuous learning and developmental experience.

As we celebrate 5 years of Asia Pacific Air Quality Group, as fun as it is to look back, it is equally exciting to look forward – which matters the most.

When I think about growth, I don't think only in terms of office space, employees or revenues. For me it is in the projects we undertake, the solutions we provide and most importantly – always evolving to meet the growing needs of our society.

It is a fortunate coincidence, that at our 5-year Anniversary APAQ Group launches the academic wing of our business – AIR QUALITY ACADEMY®. This initiative further solidifies our motto of always creating awareness about the quality of our air. We will continue imparting knowledge and equipping professionals to meet the challenges of the environmental industry.

Looking forward to future prospects, I believe in seeing many more great experiences, more expansion, growth and excitement. Because, without question, our greatest accomplishments still lie ahead of us. We know we can do it better and together, we will achieve this goal.

Our dear clients:

I would like to thank our clients for their trust in us and our abilities to help them achieve their goals and vision of success. Many of these people have also become friends and advisors, allowing us to grow and learn individually, and, as a company. Thank you for your unwavering support and great relationships.

Our dear partners:

I would also like to thank our global partners for all our successful collaborations to deliver incredible work that makes a positive and sustainable impact on our client businesses. You are fused with our team and we are proud to work with you.

Thank you once again and here's to celebrating the next successful chapter together!

Sincerely,
Attilio A. Poli
